Call for applications for PhD fellowships

FAQ

Does infertility refer only to women's infertility?

No, every application dealing with infertility whatever the gender is eligible.

Is it possible to write the application in French?

No, the jury may involve non-French speaking people, thus applications should be written in English.

The team where I plan to do my PhD is also applying to the PEPR consortium call. Does this preclude me to apply here?

No, you can apply independently to this call.

I do not have my Masters degree yet but I plan to get it by July 2024. Can I apply?

Yes, if you are selected by the jury, the scholarship will depend on your providing the diploma as soon as possible, as well as confirmation of registration with a graduate school ("école doctorale").

Is it possible to apply for a thesis with two co-supervisors?

Yes, in that case, clearly explain the situation and duplicate the CV of the thesis supervisor.

What name should be on the application?

Applications must be in the name of the PhD applicant, not the supervisor or the lab director.

Can I apply if I am not a French national?

Yes

Can I apply if I don't live in France?

Yes

Does my host laboratory have to be French?

Yes
